

broker-dealers' own name ("street-name") charge issuers a fee for distributing interim reports to beneficial shareholders, many listed companies choose not to distribute them.

The industry review considered the cost of requiring interim reports to be mailed to all shareholders, particularly where securities are held in "street-name." In this regard, while the industry groups have not reached an agreement with respect to the fees charged issuers to distribute interim reports to shareholders, they have reached agreement on the need to submit reports to registered and beneficial shareholders. This agreement is reflected in the NYSE's rule change.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange, and, in particular, with the requirements of Section 6(b).<sup>3</sup> In particular, the Commission believes the proposal is consistent with the Section 6(b)(5) requirements that the rules of an exchange be designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public.

Although the Commission does not require public companies to distribute interim reports to shareholders,<sup>4</sup> it believes that it is appropriate for the NYSE to improve the distribution by its listed companies of interim reports to shareholders. The NYSE proposal will accomplish this by ensuring equal treatment of record and beneficial shareholders in the distribution of reports. In addition, the NYSE's rule change reflects the results of the compromise reached by the various industry groups with regard to distribution of interim reports. The Commission believes the NYSE's adoption of this industry policy should help to create uniformity in the practices of NYSE-listed companies with respect to their distribution of interim financial reports.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act,<sup>5</sup> that the proposed rule change (SR-NYSE-94-42) is approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.<sup>6</sup>

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Office of the Secretary

[OST Docket 50125]

Department of Transportation Proposed Environmental Justice Strategy

AGENCIES: Office of the Secretary; Departmental Office of Civil Rights and Office of the Assistant Secretary for Transportation Policy; DOT.

ACTION: Request for comment on U.S. Department of Transportation proposed environmental justice strategy.

SUMMARY: Executive Order 12898, signed by President Clinton on February 11, 1994, directs each Federal agency to develop a strategy to address environmental justice concerns in its programs, policies and regulations. The thrust of the Executive Order is to avoid disproportionately high and adverse impacts on minority and low-income populations with respect to human health and the environment.

The Department of Transportation (DOT) has prepared a proposed environmental justice strategy. The proposed strategy describes the approach we are considering to achieve environmental justice objectives throughout the Department. To help us formulate the final strategy, we are soliciting comments from a broad range of organizations and individuals with an interest in environmental justice and transportation matters.

DATES: Comments are requested by March 1, 1995. Late-filed comments will be considered to the extent practicable.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be sent to Docket Clerk, Docket 50125, Department of Transportation, 400 7th Street, SW., Room PL 401, Washington, DC 20590.

To facilitate consideration of the comments, commenters are requested to file six copies of each submission.

Comments will be available for inspection at this address from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Commenters who wish the Department to acknowledge receipt of their comments should include a stamped, self-addressed postcard with their comments. The Docket Clerk will date-stamp the postcard and mail it back to the commenter.
